

SMBC Bank International plc

Slavery and Human Trafficking Statement

Financial year ended
31 March 2025

Background

The Modern Slavery Act 2015 (the “Act”) of the United Kingdom requires certain businesses to provide disclosure concerning their efforts to address the issues of Slavery and Human Trafficking in their organisations and supply chains. The disclosure is intended to assist customers to make better, more informed choices about the products and services they buy and the companies they support.

This document comprises the Slavery and Human Trafficking Statement (the “Statement”) of SMBC Bank International plc (SMBC BI) for the financial year ending 31 March 2025.

The Statement has been prepared in accordance with the UK Home Office statutory guidance¹ on complying with Section 54 of the Act and details the steps SMBC BI has taken during the financial year to mitigate against the risks that Slavery and Human Trafficking are taking place in any part of its business or supply chains.

Further information on SMBC BI's business can be found in our annual report and financial statements, which can be accessed at <https://www.smbcgroup.com/emea/notices-reporting/corporate-disclosures>.

SMBC BI relies upon a number of external suppliers to provide certain products or services that assist in the running of its business, including operating its offices. Suppliers are engaged for a variety of reasons, including the provision of expertise or resource that SMBC BI may or may not possess itself.

SMBC BI's stance on Slavery and Human Trafficking

The main principle guiding SMBC BI's approach to Slavery and Human Trafficking is that it should not be involved, directly or indirectly, in the commission or facilitation of the offences specified by the Act.

SMBC Group sets "Human Rights" as one of the priority issues (materiality) and publicly announces to put effort into prevent, mitigate, and remediate the "negative impacts" on human rights. SMBC Group is a supporter of the United Nations Global Compact, and the ten principles related to human rights, labour standards, environment, and anti-corruption measures. SMBC Group also participates in the "Industrial Federation for Human Rights, Tokyo", which aims to establish respect for human rights as part of core corporate culture through awareness raising and initiatives. SMBC BI supports the SMBC Group Human Rights Report and Statement on Human Rights, based on the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights (UNGPs). As such, SMBC BI is committed to protecting and respecting human rights in accordance with international human rights standards.

SMBC BI demonstrates an on-going commitment to maintaining and improving systems and processes to mitigate the risk that it might be involved, wittingly or unwittingly, in the commission or facilitation of Slavery and Human Trafficking in any part of its operations, supply chain (including customers and suppliers), products, services, and employee activities.

SMBC BI supports the SMBC Group's commitment to understand and respect internationally recognised human rights, such as the International Bill of Human Rights and the ILO Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work. SMBC BI also supports the SMBC Group to respect human rights based on international standards such as the UNGPs, the OECD Guidelines for Action on Multinational Enterprises and the ILO MNE Declaration on Multinational Enterprises, and the Government of Japan's Guidelines on Respecting Human Rights in Responsible Supply Chains, and aims to eliminate all forms of exploitative labour practices in its business and supply chains, including modern slavery, forced labour, human trafficking and child labour.

SMBC BI expects its employees, customers, and suppliers to adhere to the same high standards and to take reasonable steps to ensure that other third parties they do business with also adhere to those standards as well.

Governance – Policies in relation to Slavery & Human Trafficking

SMBC BI Senior Management are responsible for establishing a culture in which modern slavery is not tolerated in any form, ensuring that all SMBC BI employees are aware of the risks, so that informed decisions, which mitigate and manage these risks, are made in a timely manner.

SMBC BI also stipulates within its EMEA Sustainability Risk Framework that it has zero risk tolerance for relationships with customers if they engage in any of the following:

- Intentional or wilful negligent breaches of law, regulation, or policy applicable to Sustainability Risk related topics (e.g., human rights violations); or
- Repeated unintentional or repeated accidental breaches of law, regulation, or policy applicable to Sustainability Risk related topics.

SMBC BI has a well-established Anti-Slavery Policy, which sets out the arrangements for the prevention of the commission or facilitation of Slavery and/or Human Trafficking.

The Anti-Slavery Policy is supplemented by procedures and detailed guidance to SMBC BI employees on what constitutes an offence under the Act, and the controls in place to mitigate the risk that SMBC BI may be directly or indirectly involved in the commission or facilitation of Slavery and/or Human Trafficking. The Anti-Slavery Policy and supporting documents are reviewed at least on an annual basis, in accordance with SMBC BI's governance strategy.

SMBC BI has specific policies which form its Financial Crime governance framework, including an Anti-Money Laundering/Combating of Terrorist Financing (AML/CTF) Policy, Anti-Bribery and Corruption (ABC) Policy, Defence Policy, Anti-Fraud Policy, Gifts and Entertainment (G&E) Policy, and Sanctions Policy. The Anti-Slavery Policy is aligned to, and is supported by, these policies.

Risk Assessment

SMBC BI expects its customers and suppliers to undertake ethical business practices, particularly in, but not limited to, activities where there is a higher risk of Slavery and Human Trafficking.

SMBC BI takes appropriate steps to mitigate the risk that Slavery and Human Trafficking may occur in its supply chain, or that its products and services may be used by a customer for the commission or facilitation of Slavery and Human Trafficking. When engaging customers and suppliers, SMBC BI seeks assurances from them that they will comply with applicable laws and regulations.

SMBC BI conducts a risk assessment of countries, industry sectors, business activities, goods, and products, which have been reported to be involved in the potential commission or facilitation of Slavery and Human Trafficking, in line with the UNGPs.

SMBC BI also assesses Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) risks associated with its customers and suppliers, with any red flags identified in relation to social impacts such as human rights violations, impacts on communities, social discrimination, forced labour, child labour, human trafficking, freedom of association, employment discrimination, occupational health and safety, and poor working conditions, escalated to the relevant SMBC BI governance fora internal committees for further consideration by Senior Management.

Certain business activities and relationships present a heightened ESG risk, and may only be considered on a restricted, case-by-case basis where there are potential social impacts. In the following cases further review and assessment will be required:

- Customer or supplier has a negative track record with ESG controversies, including social impacts such as human rights abuses;
- Customer or supplier is currently in violation of national and/or international ESG-related laws or regulations, such as the Act; and/or
- Customer or supplier is currently under an ESG-related management action plan or receiving comments or requests from relevant authority.

The Sustainability Risk Control Team established in the Credit Department provides second-line-of-defence oversight of sustainability risks at the customer/transaction level. The team promotes integration of ESG into credit approval processes through ESG risk assessment tools, conducting ESG-related assessments and advising credit officers and front office colleagues on material ESG issues facing customers.

Due Diligence

All departments involved in due diligence processes are required to conduct appropriate checks in order to obtain reasonable assurance that customers, suppliers, and other third parties are not involved in the commission or facilitation of Slavery and/or Human Trafficking.

SMBC BI requires specific anti-slavery, risk-based due diligence to be undertaken on customers, suppliers, and other third parties.

SMBC BI applies proportionate due diligence when onboarding new customers and suppliers. This due diligence process includes, but is not limited to:

- Identification and verification;

- Determination of ESG risks by industry sector and business activity, ESG performance against relevant ESG-related laws or regulations, compliance with mitigation certifications/standards;
- Determination of where the customers, suppliers, and other third parties are based and operate;
- Analysis of the activity carried out by the customers, suppliers, and other third parties; and
- Detailed review of publicly available information, in order to identify instances related to Slavery and Human Trafficking offences that may give SMBC BI cause for concern.

Also, as part of its on-boarding and periodic due diligence processes, all customers, suppliers, and other third parties are assessed to determine whether they fall within the scope of the Act, and where such parties fall into the scope of the Act, a copy of their Anti-Slavery Statement is sought and retained. By way of best practice, for those counterparties who are not in scope of the Act, SMBC BI will seek to obtain an equivalent policy or document relating to their CSR, Human Rights etc.

In addition, in the course of conducting due diligence processes, all customers, suppliers, and other third parties are subject to adverse news screening, incorporating specific terms relevant to Slavery and Human Trafficking. SMBC BI has invested in tools to enhance its capability to identify possible human rights-related risk events, including forced labour and human trafficking allegations.

In relation to trade finance business, controls have been established to mitigate the risk of the possible commission or facilitation of Slavery and/or Human Trafficking. Trade finance transactions are subject to checks to obtain reasonable assurance that the goods have not been produced by forced, trafficked or child labour. Additional checks are undertaken where the industry sector or country of origin are known to allow, tolerate or encourage forced, trafficked or child labour.

Any instances where it is identified that the supplier, customer, or transaction may present a heightened ESG risk, or may be involved in the commission or facilitation of the relevant offences due to their core activities, line of business, business relationships, country of establishment and/or operations, will require enhanced due diligence measures, more detailed investigation, and senior management approval.

As a result, SMBC BI may take the following course of action:

- Implementing mitigating steps to reduce the risk or setting up a structured engagement plan;
- Not establishing or retaining the relationship;
- Limiting or not offering certain products or services; or
- Exiting the existing relationship.

Training

In order to ensure proper understanding of the risks posed by Slavery and Human Trafficking in the context of SMBC BI's supply chains and business, all employees are provided training on Slavery and Human Trafficking and the requirements of the Act. SMBC BI also provides a framework of sustainability-related training under its Sustainability University framework, which comprises online resources and classroom sessions, and is available to all employees.

All employees are encouraged to report any instances of suspected Slavery and Human Trafficking identified in any part of SMBC BI's business activities. The options for raising concerns and reporting are incorporated within SMBC BI's Speak-Up framework, which includes internal reporting lines, and external reporting lines as set out in the SMBC Whistleblowing Policy.

Employees are made aware of their responsibility, under relevant local legislation, to raise a Suspicious Activity Report (SAR) where they have knowledge or suspicion, or where there are reasonable grounds for having knowledge or suspicion, that another person or entity is engaged in money laundering or terrorist financing.

It is equally important for SMBC BI to demonstrate that no relevant offences are committed within its premises and/or in relation to its own employees. Human Resources have the responsibility to demonstrate, through the introduction of appropriate controls, that SMBC BI's own employees are being treated in line with local laws and regulations and are not victims of any of the relevant offences as a result of their employment.

Slavery and Human Trafficking

As used in this Statement, the above term refers to a variety of offences, including but not limited to:

- Slavery, servitude and forced or compulsory labour;
- Sexual exploitation, including all offences contemplated in the Part 1 of the UK Sexual Offences Act 2003;
- Removal and trafficking of human organs outside the context of authorised health treatments;
- Securing services or any other type of benefit(s) gained by force, threats, or deception; and
- Securing services or other type of benefit(s) gained from the exploitation of children and vulnerable persons.
